Snow, ice sculptures on tap for Winterfest

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Come Winterfest time in January, there will be some strange, chilled-out, critters and creations on the Bethel common.

On Monday the Board of Selectmen gave unanimous approval to a proposal from the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce to hold the town's first Snow and Ice Sculpture event on the common.

Chamber President Roger

Sculptures will be created by professional teams under a big tent on the common.

Beaudoin described the event as "the next greatest thing."

"As we all know we've done the snowwoman [2008] and the snowman [1999] projects," Beaudoin told the selectmen Monday evening.

"That's not something that is going to happen every year, but in the interest of the local community we would like to create another family event," Beaudoin said.

This event will begin just before New Year's and will be overseen and orchestrated by the nonprofit Maine Snow & Ice Sculpture Foundation.

Habitat focus of W'stock program

By ALISON ALOISIO

A presentation aimed at helping towns guide their growth away from environmentally sensitive areas will take place Tuesday night, Oct. 14, at the Woodstock Town Office.

Organized by the Woodstock Conservation Commission and town Planning Board, "Beginning with Habitat" is a program of the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife.

The 7 p.m. presentation is open to the public, and residents/officials from other area towns are also invited, said Marcel Polak, chairman of the WCC.

The program utilizes existing maps of wetlands, high

'There's a certain slant of light ...'

Writing in the mid-19th Century — the period during which the building now housing Hanover's Gardner Roberts Library was built — the Amherst poet Emily Dickinson was very familiar with the falling light at end of day in a pre-electrified world. And such scenes are familiar to patrons of the modern Hanover library, which until recently relied on natural light and a small kerosene ceiling lamp. But that will all change Friday evening, with a "Celebration of Light" to commemorate the library's recent electrification. Here volunteer librarian Peg Susbury enjoys a quiet afternoon moment in a sunny corner of the reading room.

Hanover library plans electrifying celebration for Friday evening

By EILEEN ADAMS/SUN WIRE

With the flip of a switch, electricity will finally come to the 124-year-old Gardner Roberts Memorial Library at 6 p.m. Friday.

Years of planning and fundraising, donations of labor and time, and a community that has worked together has brought power to the library.

To mark the occasion, a Celebration of Light has been set for 6 to 7 p.m. that evening. Newly installed lights will be activated, cider and doughnuts will be served, and people will have a chance to win one of six holiday or theme baskets.

"I'm so excited I can't believe it," said Peggy Susbury, a retired SAD43 elementary teacher and Hanover's librarian.

Three of the lights that will illuminate the book stacks room aren't really new, but were once lighting Parent's Clothing Store, which operated until the 1950s on Congress Street in

"At one of our Bee meetings, Gail said her son had found them in their barn," Susbury said.

Susbury said lighting the library must be a little bit like when the town got electricity in 1924. She said one of her early co-workers, Florence Fifield, who was also a teacher, told her how people stood outside their homes and waited as someone switched on the electricity 84 years ago.

Susbury and the Bee ladies gather weekly in the maple and birch interior of the library to label and sort books, and do whatever else needs doing.

For the past few years, fundraisers were held to finance moving the library from Howard

Oxford Cty. casino battle heating up

Despite being on the ballot, a proposal for a casino in the hills of western Maine was dead, for all intents and purposes, up until a few weeks ago when a Las Vegas casino developer arrived with big hopes and a bigger wallet.

Now the airwaves are alive with ads by casino proponents as the state engages in another lively debate over the merits of casino gambling.

Pat LaMarche from Vote Yes on 2 said there's a lot of ground to be made up by casino supporters in the coming weeks. She said recent surveys showed many Mainers didn't even realize that there was a casino referendum on the Nov. 4 ballot.

"Before it was dead in the water and no one was taking it seriously. Now, my phone's ringing off the hook and people are sending in money," said Dennis Bailey, executive director of Casinos No! "They've ramped it up, and we're ramping it up too."

A month ago, the casino campaign was in disarray because of the referendum leader's legal problems and LaMarche's decision to quit her job as spokeswoman.

Then came Olympia Gaming. The Las Vegas company purchased a controlling interest in Evergreen Mountain Enterprises from Rumford lawyer Seth Carey, who had run into trouble with the Maine Overseers of the Bar over ethics complaints.

LaMarche was soon back

'Personal reasons' cited as another Andover selectman calls it quits

By ALISON ALOISIO

Andover has now lost three selectmen to resignation in less than four months.

Donna Libby, elected in July to fill one of two board seats vacated by resignation, resigned Sept. 30, effective immediately. She cited personal reasons.

Residents will vote on a replacement on Nov. 4, Election Day.

Board chairman Susan Merrow and selectman Trudy Akers accepted Libby's resignation, with regret, at Tuesday's selectmen's meeting.

Nomination papers for Libby's seat will be available in the near future, Merrow said, and interested people may call the Town Office for details.

The papers must be submitted by Oct. 21, she said.

Libby, whose professional background is in auditing and accounting, has been helping with the town audit, Merrow said.

"She said she would continue on helping with other committees and projects as we need her," said Merrow. "I thank her for her service for the short time she was here. She did a lot of hard work and put in a lot of hours."

Libby said in her letter she would resume her previous position on the Benefits and Wages Committee.

Turnover issues

Resident Jackie Gammon said at Tuesday's meeting she is concerned about the turnover rate on town boards and committees.

"I'm concerned that we have lost a lot of good people on committees in such a short amount of time," she said. She said four to six people

Ski resorts say casinos incompatible with Maine's brand of entertainment

Sunday River in Bethel has joined with other ski resorts, businesses and individuals in Maine to oppose Question 2 on November's ballot, the proposed gambling casino for Oxford County.

In a memo to Sunday River's employees, Dana Bullen, general manager of Sunday River, said the casino would be incompatible with Maine's "brand."

"The decision to oppose casinos in Maine is based on our belief that the proposed casino represents a clear threat to our state's brand and is a poor choice for the citizens of Maine," he said. "Maine is one of the few states in the nation that is fortunate to actually claim a 'brand' identity. Maine is known for its rugged outdoor image, uncompromised natural beauty, family-friendly environment, and Yankee originality. These are attributes the state of Maine promotes to the world through its tourism efforts, and attributes that Sunday River has tied into our own Visioning process. They are what differentiate us from all other states in the country."

"There is a stark contrast between these attributes, for which Maine is known, and those associated with casino gambling," the memo continued.

READ CASINO PLAN CAREFULLY

To the Editor:
A recent headline in the Portland Sunday paper read "Oxford's Choice." The article was, of course, about the proposed casino to be "built" in Oxford County.
The choice, however, will not be just up to the people who live in Oxford County. It will be decided by all the voters throughout the state. Even if the Oxford County people were opposed to the casino, it still could be forced upon them. Likewise, if the people were in favor of the casino it still could be voted down.
Please don't be lulled into the promise of "800" new jobs because many of these will be filled by experienced casino workers from outside Maine and/or by local people currently working in existing jobs. The referendum issue to be decided has many, many flaws. To name just one, it lowers the age to 18 for people working in the casino and to 19 for people to gamble. Even the Nevada owners of Evergreen Mountain Enterprises, L.L.C. admit that the bill would have to go back to the Legislature for "amending." What would happen if it were amended so that it would be built in another county near the Turnpike? I'm sure the Nevada owners would be delighted.
I urge all citizens to read carefully the 27 pages of the proposed referendum Question Two. Then listen to both sides, ask questions, and then cast your vote in November.

WOMEN FOR OBAMA RALLY

To the Editor:
Women have always made the difference in every election — local, state and national — and this year, your voice and the voices of thousands of women across the country will be the deciding factor in forging a new future for America.
We believe that Barack Obama and Joe Biden will deliver real solutions to the challenges affecting women and their families. They will work to ensure that: Women will receive equal pay for equal work; A woman's right to choose will be protected; Childcare tax credits will be expanded; Investments will be made in our children's education; Working families will receive a $1,000 energy rebate; Investments will be made in women-owned small businesses.
In addition, women's healthcare will be a high priority and will include such legislative initiatives as research and education in women's heart disease, ovarian cancer and breast cancer and the strengthening of domestic violence laws.
(For more information, visit the following website: <http://my.barackobama.com/page/s/MEWomen>).
We invite you to attend a Women for Obama Rally for Change on Tuesday, Oct. 14, at 4 p.m. on the Bethel Common. Mary Herman, chair of Maine Women for Obama and Maine's former first lady, will lead the rally. There will also be a contest for the best handmade political sign on the Women Support Obama theme. The event is open to everyone.
Following the rally on the common, we will walk to L'Auberge for refreshments, visiting with Mary Herman and an opportunity for interested women to participate in a Women-calling-Women phone bank. In case of rain the rally will be held indoors at L'Auberge.
This is the most important election for women and women's issues in our lifetime. Please come and join us at the Rally for Change!
We are among the many Women for Obama supporters attending the Rally and we hope to see you there as well.

on the job and on Sept. 16 Olympia Gaming announced plans for a $150 million casino. Two weeks later, it unveiled an architectural vision for a casino-resort complex that it likens to a charming New England village.

This week, Olympia Gaming plans to announce a location for the casino, should state and local voters give their approval. Finalists are Rumford, Oxford and a third town yet to be identified.

"It's coming on so fast," said Rumford Town Manager Len Greaney, who believes residents are trying to sort out fact from fiction in the campaign.

Supporters say the $150 million casino with a 125-bed hotel in its first phase would create 800 jobs and serve as an economic engine in Oxford County. LaMarche said the average casino job would pay $12,000 more per year than the $24,000 average annual salary in the county. Also, it would bring to state coffers $50 million in the first year of operation.

Critics don't like many aspects of the bill, and neither do its supporters, for that matter. LaMarche said she wishes "that I had a gallon of white-out" to fix problems written into the proposal, which cannot be changed at this late stage.

As written, the bill would allow people younger than 21 to gamble and to work in the casino; it would place a 10-year moratorium on competing casinos; and it would put the casino president on a number of boards that benefit from casino revenues. It also would allow the casino to extend credit to gamblers whose money runs out, critics say.

LaMarche said those provisions will need to be changed by the Legislature, but Bailey questions why voters would want to approve a flawed proposal in the first place. "I just think it stretches credibility to say we don't like this law, but vote for it anyway," Bailey said.

In Rumford, birthplace of the proposal, many people are thrilled about the prospect of a casino, which would offer table games as well as slot machines. But people need to know the pluses and minuses, Greaney said.

"We all want jobs. We all want economic development. Maybe this is a great opportunity, but I'd like to understand it a little better," the town manager said. He said he hoped LaMarche and Bailey would come to Rumford to "talk turkey" with residents at a town forum.

The dream of casino gambling has been picking up steam this decade in Maine. In 2003, the Penobscot and Passamaquoddy Indian tribes promoted a $650 million casino in Sanford.

That measure was defeated at the polls. Instead, voters gave their approval for a race-track casino, or racino. That measure required a two-year legislative rework that led to Bangor's Hollywood Slots complex, which is allowed 1,500 slot machines.

Since then, efforts to expand gambling have failed. Gov. John Baldacci vetoed a Passamaquoddy-backed bill to create a racino in Washington County, and the Maine Legislature rejected a Penobscot-backed bill to allow slot machines on Indian Island.

Bailey said casinos amount to "economic cannibalism" by taking money from the economy and putting it in the pockets of casino operators.

LaMarche said the casino would bring money to Oxford County, not siphon it from the local economy.

Resorts

Saddleback Mountain, Sugarloaf and Sunday River have joined with CasinosNO! to help defeat the casino, and Bullen said the company will be making a financial contribution to the anti-casino group.

"Although Sunday River does not have a history of adopting a corporate position on public referendum, we feel that this issue warrants our involvement as a company," Bullen wrote. "We respect every employee's right to have their own, and possibly a differing, view on this issue. At the same time, however, we hope that every employee understands Sunday River's position and will make an informed choice."

Warren Cook, general manager of Saddleback Mountain, said, "The ski industry in Maine has made millions of dollars in investments to create good jobs and attract tourists who come here for our clean environment, beautiful scenery and outdoor recreation. This is Maine's strength. A gambling casino doesn't play to our strengths, it preys on our weaknesses."

Only Woodstock and Bethel currently have commissions, he said.

"If other towns organize conservation commissions there could be opportunities for regional conservation projects," he said. "For example, some of the important wildlife habitat documented by Beginning with Habitat straddles two towns."

Conservation commissions do not replace the work of land trusts, said Polak.

Instead, he said, they work collaboratively with land trusts to achieve common goals.

An example is the Buck's Ledges project, which is a partnership among the Maahoosuc Land Trust, the Woodstock Conservation Commission and a local fundraising committee.

MERRILL HILL ESTATES RECOGNIZED AS THE PLACE FOR THE ESSENCE OF MOUNTAIN STYLE BY MOSS CREEK

"Enchantment got you here. You fell in love with the area, and bought the perfect parcel. Now it is time to build a Moss Creek Home like no other," per Preferred Designer, Allen Halcomb (in photo on left), and President of Moss Creek Designs who included Merrill Hill Estates on his stops during his recent visit to projects in the New England area.

Driving over from New Hampshire with Warren Schatzler/Custom builder and owner of www.nh-interiors.com a rustic furniture gallery after reviewing a project situated on 100 acres on Lake Winnepesaukee. Known for crafting homes that exemplify the American spirit of freedom, beauty and success Moss Creek Designs reflect our nation's rustic past which is why Merrill Hill Estates asked them to design the gatehouse in the Ahwahnee vernacular. While they were on Merrill Hill they checked out progress of the gatehouse at the entrance on Morganite Way. Not only does Allen listen he takes service far beyond most designers, making sure the design exceeds your expectations, the materials are the right quality and as in the gatehouse right down to overseeing surface preparations on the building before the poplar bark siding is attached with ceramic lock screws. This commitment to excellence best explains the global success for Moss Creek and the wide range of projects from a 37,000sf lodge in the countryside of Russia to an Ahwahnee styled gatehouse for Merrill Hill Estates in the heart of the luxury realm at Sunday River Resort.

Allen and Warren took a look at the first lots that are soon to be released with underground utilities/fiber optics and agreed with the developer on the site location for the second gatehouse on Upper Morganite and Amethyst as well as the appropriate site for a special family compound for an active family and empty nesters in the process of seeking the essence to mountain living on Merrill Hill.

Pond Road to its home next to the town office on Ferry Road. The interior and exterior of the building have been polished and spiffed up.

It was built by local businessman Gardner Roberts in 1884 as a post office. A few years later, it became the library, said Clem Worcester, a library trustee and town clerk. The mail slot is now the book return slot.

Many older books have been sold, and with the money, newer books were purchased. However, the library still has dozens of older books, along with book sections for children, novels, Maine and New England, and research-related sections. Magazines are also available.

With electricity will come an Internet connection. Susbury said the library with its more than 5,000 volumes will become a satellite of the Rumford Public Library. If Rumford has a book wanted by someone in Hanover, it can be brought to Hanover.

Susbury said Karl Aromaa, director of Rumford's library, has donated books and helped with professional expertise to get the Hanover library going.

Many others have also donated books.

The library is not supported by the town, so book sales, bake sales and other fundraising pays the bills. Susbury, who volunteers her time, has been offering baked goods each Wednesday when the library is open. Money raised from the sale of her baked goods goes toward operating the library.

Besides the Oct. 10 Celebration of Light, the library will be open all day starting at 10 a.m. to sell books and baked goods, and to provide a chance for people to just sit around the table and chat.

The library will remain open Wednesdays, plus Thursday mornings when the Library Bee meets, until the end of October, or "for as long as we can stand the cold," Susbury said.

The library will have light by the 10th, but there's still no heat.

It will reopen in the spring.

Regarding the selectmen's positions, Gammon said, "No one wants to volunteer or work as many hours as you folks do for virtually nothing. We need to get a handle on this. It's ludicrous."

"I realize some things pop up for people, but to have this many people quit — we need to take a look at this," she said.

Gammon said the Water District had also lost people.

"We're losing good, qualified people, whether it's selectmen or other positions. We need to look at it. We could be in a lot of trouble down the road if we don't. We've got people in it who may have good intentions, but not the qualifications to do the job," she said.

Morrow, who was elected in March, said she was concerned about the turnover on the selectboard.

"That was a big part of why I ran, because when you look over the past 10 years, very few selectmen have been elected in March and served all three years," she said.

Morrow said an assessment of the selectmen's job description was needed, to try to find balance in the time commitment.

"It's a big job, and it's definitely a crisis in the town as far as I'm concerned," Morrow said.

Followup comments

On Wednesday, Morrow provided the following additional comments by e-mail:

"I agree that finding qualified candidates for the selectmen's roles is difficult; however, committee and all meeting participation has significantly increased over the past year.

"Citizen committee participation has been great in many respects. Not only do committees help the selectboard by assisting with time consuming research, but also they get citizens talking and thinking about the important issues.

"Citizens had to petition the last selectboard to allow more people on the Budget Committee at a special Town Meeting last fall. This year, the Budget Committee has grown in size from five to seven members.

"After the success of the Transfer Station Committee in 2007, this year, Andover has had committees to research benefits and wages, ambulance service options, a tree plan for the common, cemetery fence restoration — all issues that deserve community extra attention.

"Just those committees have made for 20-plus more citizens involved in town government. This shows that people are able to take on a limited commitment, but, so far, the job of selectmen has not been structured in a way people feel they can incorporate into their lives.

"As for paid roles in town government, there has been very limited turnover in actual town jobs — elected or hired. No one has been a regular, full-time position for less than five years.

"It may be the longevity in these offices that is causing the resistance to embracing the change to more transparent or accountable practices — sometimes it feels as if the taxpayers have been forgotten. This is another reason why committee and meeting participation has actually increased."

Sculptures

The sculptures will be created and displayed in a large (140 feet x 30 feet x 16 feet) tent, flanked by two refrigeration semi-trailers, and patrolled around the clock by security guards.

The works of frozen art will be created by international teams of professional snow and ice sculptors, Beaudoin told the selectmen, and a small admission fee would be charged.

"It is another big draw for the town of Bethel, and bring families and visitors to the area, as opposed to those who just go to the ski area — this is a draw to the village itself."

And well into the village proper — not just to its northern (Parkway) fringe, where the snowman and snowwoman are built.

In a letter to the selectmen, Chamber Executive Director Robin Zinchuk wrote: "We have learned that doing an event in Bethel Station does not have an immediate benefit to many village businesses, no matter how hard we try!"

"We will be seeking sponsors to help defray the cost of building these and inviting the area businesses and nonprofits to plan additional events during this early winter time period, when business has historically been a little slow," Zinchuk wrote.

Details of the event — such as whether or not the sculptures will be taken down afterward or left to fade naturally, and how any damage to the common turf will be dealt with — remain to be worked out.

One detail that has been worked out is that the refrigeration trailers will shut off each night at 10 p.m.

"Imagine trailers that have refrigeration units make a bit of a racket," Zinchuk told the board Monday, "but we'll be sure to have them shut off so they're not disturbing people."

CARTER SEEKS RE-ELECTION IN DISTRICT 91

State Rep. Timothy Carter (District-91) is seeking re-election to the House of Representatives. A sixth generation farmer and logger from Bethel, Carter has a deep commitment and public service record in Augusta and Washington.

Carter graduated from the University of Maine in agricultural sciences. After two years in the US Army, he returned to Bethel to run the family farm. In 1994 he was appointed to the post of Northeast Area Director for the US Department of Agriculture, serving until 2001.

Carter and his wife, Jody, live on the farm and have three children and three grandchildren. He is a member of SAM, SWOAM, and the Maine Farm Bureau.

Carter serves on the Agriculture, Conservation, and Forestry Committee. He has routinely reached across the aisle working with colleagues regardless of party and has successfully shepherded bills through the Legislature ensuring access to Maine's public lands, creating a low-interest loan program for the installation of geothermal heating units, and assisting Maine's traditional agricultural and forestry industries to develop new technologies to create new jobs.

"The experience and insight that I have gained over the last two years as a member of the state Legislature will be invaluable in my effort to improve the future of rural Maine," Carter said. "I look forward to continuing this work in the coming legislative session."

Carter is going door-to-door throughout the district visiting with voters. He can be reached on the phone at 824-7698 or at oldfarmer@excite.com.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

It's that time of the year when we're in weather flux. We're having pleasant days and cold nights. That means we're also in clothing flux too.

I start the morning in a sweater, turtleneck and tight jacket and by noon I have to shed a few garments. By late afternoon I have to layer up again. That's a bit of a pain.

I was going to start packing away my summer clothing, but I know that as soon as I do that we'll get hit with an Indian Summer and all I'll have to wear will be bulky sweaters. Then I'll sweat like a pig, catch a chill as the temperature drops and catch a cold that will stay with me until next May. That I don't need.

In spite of beautiful fall foliage I am not a big fan of October. It is such a teaser of a month. It threatens us with winter-like chills and then treats us with summer-like warmth. It's our last hurrah of pleasant temperatures and our first taste of what's to come as winter inches our way.

My house is in a state of flux too. The air conditioners have been put away for the season, but I'm not quite ready to deal with the storm windows. One night last week, when the air conditioner was still in the bedroom window, there was so much cold air coming in around it that I put extra blankets on the bed and my husband and I were still cold. The next night, the temperature didn't drop much at all from the warm day we had and we actually had to turn the air on for a little while.

In spite of beautiful fall foliage, I am not a big fan of October. It is such a teaser of a month.

The last few days I had to put the heat on in the morning and therein lies my dislike of October. It is the first month since spring that I am forced to enrich the oil companies. Every time I hear the furnace kick on I can visualize the dollar signs going up the chimney and this is only the beginning.

That forces me to turn my thoughts to winterizing this big, old, drafty house and when I look at the price of oil I'm tempted to wrap the entire building in heavy plastic.

I can almost hear the big oil executives counting their annual multi-million dollar bonuses every time my furnace rumbles to life. When the oilman filled my tank the other day, I couldn't help but to think about the 13 billion dollar profit made by one of the big oil companies in the last quarter.

We've all heard the excuses for the high prices; the cost of crude oil, the speculators and the damage to rigs from hurricanes...yada, yada, yada, the list goes on.

That doesn't exactly have me shedding a tear for Exxon-Mobil when they post the highest profits in a quarter of any company in the history of the world. And then the next quarter they top the previous quarter's profits. My word! I would love to increase my profit each quarter, but since I have to pay such ridiculous fuel bills I don't even have a profit.

But, I digress; I was talking about the October flux regarding the weather, my wardrobe and my house. Another month and we'll be into consistent cold with the heat running all the time and I'll be living in fleece and bulky sweaters.

I guess when I consider what awaits I shouldn't complain quite as much about October. Besides, the way I see it I have about as much chance of getting October to turn up its temperatures as I do getting the big oil companies to turn down their huge profits.

Monday's gas price at Irving was $3.39 per gal.

Mayville's weekend attraction has been farming: potato digging on one side and corn cutting on the other.

Also, Route 2 hummed with jambooreeing Jeeps conveying by our place. Foliage is coming and going. Highlights for me this year were walking around Birch Wood which is on a ridge and, don't laugh, along Route 2 while driving to the transfer station.

Selectmen's agenda for Monday's meeting There were nine items in all — these included use of the common for a snow and ice sculpture event, Chamber of Commerce; a plumbing code issue at Mountain Valley Road; a plumbing code issue at a Walkers Mill Road address; Maine PUC notice about Dig Safe Law possible violation; Swan Hill Road improvement plans discussion; authorization to pay bills for fire station parking lot paving and resurfacing Annis Road and Intervale Road; authorization for short-term borrowing and designation of a voting delegate to the Maine Municipal Association's annual meeting.

Columbus Day weekend will also be parents' weekend at the academy. Saturday will be very busy with eight athletic events scheduled. Gould's equestrian team will go to Sunset Farm in Waterford for a dressage show. Hebron Academy and Kents Hill School teams will be visiting here.

Obama for President are invited to join in what may be the first Democratic political rally in Bethel in a long, long time.

In 1932, the only active Democrats in town, Pearl Ashby Tibbetts, Alton Carroll and a friend took to the streets with a push lawnmower and signs to demonstrate against a threat from the opposition that if a Democrat was elected President "grass would grow in the streets."

Obama supporters are called to gather on the Common at the Gazebo for a rally, a talk by Mary Herman, Maine's former first lady and chair of Maine Women for Obama, as well as a contest for the best handmade political sign on the Women Support Obama theme. The event is open to everyone from tots to teens, twenty-somethings, and right on up the age brackets. Men are welcome too! Be creative. Decorated strollers and bikes would add to the fun.

Following the program, there will be a march to L'Auberge for refreshments and a chance to help in a Women-calling-Women phone bank. Attendees willing to make calls are asked to bring cell phones. There will be an opportunity to make a donation to the Oxford County Democrats at L'Auberge. The local planning committee includes Nancy Willard, Lynn Arizzi, Rosabelle Tift, Sharon and Doron Haendel, and Cathy Newell. In the case of rain, the rally will be held indoors at L'Auberge.

And if all of this isn't enough, the Oxford County

Democrats are running a virtual auction this month. The items include a four-day canoe trip on the St. Croix River in the summer of 2009 with Rep. Terry and Steve Hayes of Buckfield, a plane trip for three adults with Bruce Rood of Norway, a twin-size quilt by Cathy Newell of Greenwood, a will by Attorney Jennifer Kreckel of Rumford, a tour of the Bumpus Mine in Albany in the summer of 2009 for up to eight adults by Seabury Lyon of Bethel, financial and healthcare power of attorney documents by Attorney Paul Dumas of Mexico, an antique beaded evening bag and a vintage petpoint evening bag donated by Arla Patch of Woodstock, and a weekend at a Beacon Hill condo in Boston donated by Pat and Henry Stewart of Greenwood. Additional items will be added throughout the auction. To participate, e-mail Cathy Newell at cathynewell@megalink.net to be added to the auction mailing list and view complete descriptions and pictures of auction items. Bids are submitted by e-mail and updates will be issued several times each week through Oct. 30.

October suppers planned by the Oxford County Democrats will feature silent auctions, as well as an opportunity to bid on the Virtual Online Auction items. People with silent auction items should bring the items the Bethel office on Mechanic Street or just bring them to a supper.

This Old House Part Two

This is a continuation of last week's story about the Rowe family homestead at 31 Park Street. In 1982, Rosalind Rowe Chapman wrote a history of Park Street for the Bethel Historical Society. In this account Mrs. Chapman wrote that from 1886 to 1923 the Rowe family also owned the house on Park Street that was the second one behind the Universalist/Nazarene church. But, this continuation of last week's story is only about their main home which is now being remodeled into four condo units.

The second Rowe generation began when Ceylon and Mary's only child, Herbert Ceylon, was born in 1877. Although considered an excellent scholar who planned to enter MIT after graduating from Gould Academy in 1894, he returned to Bethel after attending the Chauncey School in Boston to join his father in running their Bethel store. Herbert C. was born, lived, married and died in the Rowe home on Park Street. In July 1907, Herbert C. Rowe married Miss Alice Russell. They had three children: Herbert R., Marjorie and Rosalind. Marjorie died in infancy. After Ceylon died in 1922, the Rowe home was completely renovated and then occupied by the Herbert C. Rowe family.

Herbert C., known as "Bert," increasingly took over store-keeping from his father as Ceylon could no longer keep up with business. And later when son Herbert was ready to retire, Ceylon's grandson, Herbert R. took over.

At the time of Herbert C.'s death in 1939, the Bethel Citizen noted that with the third generation running the business, it was the oldest family business in Bethel. When the store closed in 1940, the Ceylon Rowe Store had been open 62 years — only Brooks Hardware/Brooks Bros. in business for 91 years, 1917 to 2008, has a longer track record. The Rowe store's rooms at the north end of the Kimball Block became Bethel's public use Community Room.

Rosalind Rowe "Rollie" Chapman, Herbert C. and Alice Rowe's daughter, said that during the later 1930s store business declined — the depression was on but shopping had changed and the automobile helped change it. During the store's strongest era, families shopped daily and walked to their nearest general store. Residents had to purchase fresh food daily and the Rowe store's basement served as a cool food storage area — sort of walk-in refrigerator.

Margery Rowe Swan, Herbert R. and Edith Enman Rowe's daughter, was raised in the Rowe home.

She had this story to tell. When Margery was a child, they shared the house with her father's parents, Herbert C. and Alice Russell Rowe. Her grandfather died in 1939 and her grandmother in 1948. During the 1943-45 war years, Margery's family moved to Gardiner, Maine and her father worked at Bath Iron Works. When the war ended they moved back to the Rowe home on Park Street. Margery returned to school entering Bethel Grammar School in the sixth grade.

When they returned to Bethel, Margery's family shared the house with the Rosalind and Franklin Chapman family which included their daughter — Carolyn and later on, son Jack.

In 1948 after Alice Rowe died, the house was divided into two apartments. Margery graduated from Gould Academy in 1952. Her father, called "Herbie," started work at Brooks Hardware and continued there until he retired.

Time for a quick anecdote: Herbie Rowe soldered a penny to a nail and drove the nail into the floor near the cash register at Brooks Bros. store. Then many laughs were heard as people tried to pick up the penny.

In 1958 Franklin and Rosalind Chapman moved out of the house to their new home and during the summer NTL participants rented the vacant apartment. In 1978, Herbert R. (Herbie) and Edith moved to an apartment in Sudbury Village. The Rowe house in the Park was sold to Elgin Tibbetts and Hope Tibbetts who adapted the rooms to serve as a boarding home for the elderly. The house had been a Rowe family home from 1864 to 1977.

The current owner is Duncan MacDougal Properties of Portland. To get your Bethel news into the Citizen, you can e-mail me at Donald@thebetheljournals.info or donaldbe@roadrunner.com or call 824-2094.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

Owing to all the rain and wind of this past week, many leaves have already fallen. Nevertheless, I would say that as of Monday morning at least, color was just about at peak, judging from the hill-sides up the road. Last week as I made the trip to the Fryeburg Fair four times, I watched the color along the way get more and more brilliant, much better than the last few years.

Speaking of the Fair, crowds seemed to be down. It was certainly partly because of the weather, but maybe there was an element of economics involved as well, with the price of gasoline causing folks to think twice before driving anywhere that was not absolutely necessary. Booths at the Fair that dealt with wood heat, pellet technology, or even geothermal heating technology were attracting a good deal of attention as people seek less costly solutions to home heating.

We had an interesting time of it up in the loft of the Farm Museum. My friend, Grace McKivergan, demonstrates weaving on the big barn loom there, and another friend, Anne Gass, and I alternate days demonstrating spinning there. Most of the time there is a certain sameness about the visitors we meet. This year, however, seemed different. There was more of serious, rapt interest in what we were doing; many more questions than usual; and more inquiries about how to learn these crafts. Could it be that folks are wanting to turn back to simpler, more self-reliant times?

Ginny and Bob Keniston of Bethel always have a Wood Turnings booth in the Forestry Products building, and this year was no exception. Their son, Peter, and daughter, Martha, were there tending the booth for part of each day, giving Ginny and Bob a well-deserved break. Both Ginny and Bob stopped up at the Museum to say hello and chat for a while, always a welcome treat for me.

I mentioned last week that I met the Applins over turkey sandwiches at the Turkey Farm concession. Later in the week I happened to sit down with Liz Como and Andy Chakoumakis with daughter Sophia, and their friend, Scott Berglund, and his little girl. Liz and Andy raise sled dogs and used to live in Albany but are now in Lovell. Our Siegel family has one of their "rejects," Grizzly, who was too big for racing but is an absolutely wonderful family pet.

Other visitors to the Museum from the area were Mabel and Alden Kennett, who spend a week each year at the Fair in their camper; Dawn Giroux; and Debbie Martin of Mason Township.

Linda Westleigh called to tell me about the Westleighs' "stay-cation." They stayed fairly close to home last week, but made trips to the Fair and here and there. It started with picking up Linda's sister, Nadine Hughes, at Manchester, where she had flown from her home in western Florida to spend the week with Linda and Reg. They went to the Fryeburg Fair a few times, including once where all they did was park and spend time with Linda's cousins in their fifth wheel on the fairgrounds.

There were also visits with relatives closer to home, including, I am sure, the Westleigh grandchildren and great-granddaughter, Nadine was dropped off at Manchester on Sunday for her return to Florida, and she and Linda bid reluctant good-byes after a wonderful visit.

Our granddaughter, Molly Siegel, spent Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights in Baxter State Park with nine other Gould students and their guide, John Wight. The plan was to climb Mount Katahdin, and I expect that the weather was somewhat challenging. Can't wait to hear the details from Molly.

This week is unwinding time for me after the intense time of being "on stage" each day at the Fair. Needless to say, there are also laundry, gardening, and other chores to be done. Meanwhile, do get in touch with your news and views. 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net

by Lin Chapman

It is that time of year again. The leaves are turning all sorts of beautiful colors, and putting on a great show. The leaves are not the only sign of fall this year. The little blue and white campaign signs are showing up beside the road and there are little clusters of them at popular intersections. The big election is less than a month away.

Steve and Lise McLain got a call from their son, Major Stephen McLain this past weekend. Stephen is still in Iraq and has been out and about recently. He took a tour of the Great Ziggurat of Ur, a temple dedicated to a moon goddess of ancient times, and the surrounding area (which includes the ruins of an ancient palace). At the palace ruins, he had the opportunity to walk down into a tomb, where a king had been buried.

My brother, Steve McLain, stopped by last Saturday to pick up the quilt that Lise had won in the raffle sponsored by the Gilead Historical Society. He returned on Sunday to do some training with the Gilead Fire Department.

Gilead Fire Department
Driving Instructor, Steve McLain, led a course in Driver Training this past weekend for eight members of the department. He had some help from Fabian Corriveau, Jamie McLean and Richard Saunders, who have been with the department for several years. Also attending the training were Sue Saunders, Nikki Petillo, Scott Bogart, and Hugh and Lin Chapman. The training began with trying to drive the squad truck through the traffic cones. Going forward was not bad, but trying to back up using the mirrors was a whole different story. Everyone managed to complete the task. Some of us took several tries, but keep in mind that those who are not adept at backing up are pretty darn good at making coffee and banana bread! Then it was time to maneuver through the cones with Engine One, which is somewhat larger to say the least. Everyone had a great time and now have some knowledge on how these trucks run and have a feeling for how they drive. Coffee and snacks were provided since the weather was a little cool.

Election Day

Speaking of elections, if you can't get to the polls on Nov. 4, there are still ways that you can cast your ballot. Cynthia Handlen is working with the Democratic Party to assist voters in obtaining their absentee ballots or helping them get to the polls on Election Day. Gilead residents, who have already registered to vote, can call the Registrar (Lin Chapman) at 836-2987 to request that an absentee ballot be sent to them. There have been several requests already. Residents who have not registered to vote can do so on Election Day or make arrangements ahead of time to register.

Gilead Historical Society

The GHS is working on gathering information on the schools in Gilead. Besides the schoolhouse that is still standing, there were six others in town at one time, plus the one that was out at the end of the Bog Road. There were two on the North Road heading toward Bethel (near the Chapman Cemetery and Raymond Chapman's) and one on the North Road heading toward New Hampshire. On the south side of the Androscoggin River, there were three other schools. There was one near the entrance of the Bog Road, near Bog Brook and above the Wild River Bridge on Route 2. There is a plan to compile any information that can be gathered and preserve it for future research. If there is anyone who would like to share written information or pictures, the GHS would really like to hear from you. There is always an interest in old pictures and articles regarding Gilead. An old picture may not always seem important, but sometimes it provides an answer to a question that has gone unanswered. Give us a call at 836-2987.

Upton

by Laurie Brown

Greetings from Var-num Pond in Temple; that's where I'm writing my column. My niece, Shannon, and I are staying with my sister, Melanie, for a couple days helping her get her wood split. Such a beautiful spot. We listened to the loons and to fish jumping in the pond.

Twenty-six people attended the Stateline Snowmobile Club on Saturday, at the schoolhouse. The results of the election of officers: Dennis Casco, president; Joe Bernier, vice president; Doug Otis, secretary/treasurer; and Harold Hibbard, trailmaster. Harold Hibbard, Jennie Bernier and Charlotte Dominique were named to the board of directors. The next meeting will be Nov. 1 at 6:30 p.m. at the school. Jim Rector will be present to register snowmobiles. A portion of the fees he collects will be returned to the club. Hopefully there will be at least as many members at this meeting to participate in the discussion and voting on fundraising ideas.

Oct. 25th! Oct. 25th! That's still the day to meet at the Upton Corner with ideas, equipment and muscles to resurrect the "common."

Jes Arline Bernier was baptized at the Grace Lutheran Church on Sunday, Oct. 4, her mom's family church. Jes looked absolutely beautiful in her new outfit and, although she protests at bath time, fussed only a tad when the minister sprinkled her head with water.

Plans for the Nov. 8 Hunters' Supper are well underway. I have it on pretty good authority that the potluck supper will be delectable. Adults will be charged $8, children $6 and tots 3 and under will be free.

When Richard Enman was in the area this past summer, he comprised a report of names and dates on the stones in the Upton and Grafton cemeteries. He sent me a copy to put in the library. Thanks, Richard.

In his book, Richard E. Pinette described Upton as "nature's playground with a rich forestland heritage." I like that. He also wrote that the Umbagog Lake region is the "undisputed Snowmobile Capital of the Northeast."

The Errol library donated a computer, printer and scanner to our library. I am excited about using it to catalogue the books and such in the spring. Thanks to Carol Norman for letting them know we would appreciate such a gift.

Oct. 9 birthdays: Sean Ono Lemon, 1975; Jean and Lisa Sagal, 1961; Linwood Boomer 1955.

Erma Bombeck made this statement which, in my opinion, is worthy of repeating, "Don't confuse fame with success. Madonna is one, Helen Keller is the other."

I hope you enjoy your week. Selah

Andover

by Melinda Averill

Hello Andover friends, welcome to fall! Look around and see how nice our foliage is right here in town, you don't even have to drive far.

There is no school on Friday, due to a teacher workshop, and no school on Monday because of the Columbus Holiday. I'm sure all of the kids will enjoy the long weekend.

Late Saturday night, early Sunday morning, around 1 a.m. to be exact, I was awakened to screaming sirens going up my road. Several state troopers were apparently chasing a vehicle from Andover. We all need to be more aware of what's going around our neighborhood. In the past three weeks there have been several thefts near town — firewood, a 25-pound bag of dog food taken right off of a porch, and also a building was broken into.

Today, Thursday, is Grandparents Day at the Andover School. It is from 9 until 11 a.m. (In last week's Bethel paper it was noted in the Back Pages section that ten years ago there were 65 grandparents and other special persons in attendance at Andover Elementary School's Grandparents Day celebration.)

I'm a little behind on get well wishes. I'm just hearing about a couple of folks in town who have been in and out of the hospital in the past few weeks, and also battling illnesses. Hopefully by now they are well on the road to feeling better. Good wishes to Foster Tabb, Judy Tabb, Alice Dixon, John Foster, Dinah Cutting, and Christine Ladd.

The Andover Food Pantry and Pennacook Artists are joining to organize the first annual Ellis River Fall Festival on Oct. 25. Along with a supper, bake sale and live music, the event will include an Artist Palette Silent Art Auction which is a fun event where you can bid for a piece of art from a local artist. If you want to share your talent for a good cause, you can paint or decorate one of the palettes to be auctioned. Call Linda Couture for more event information and to get a palette at 364-7968. Susan Merrow also is distributing the palettes at 392-2900.

Happy birthday to Nyia Dixon, tomorrow, Oct. 10, Virginia Owings on the 14th, and Timmy Smith Jr. on the 15th.

I would like to send my sympathy to Shelley and Tim Downs for the loss of her niece, little Madysn Warner, of Portland, who died on Friday, Oct. 3. A funeral was

The Gardner Roberts Memorial Library has been electrified and it is time to celebrate. Friday, Oct. 10, is the big day. There will be a book sale along with a book bakery sale from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m. (Oh, they don't bake books but really good tasting breads, cakes, cookies and pies.) Starting at 6 p.m. the switch will be flipped and the lights will come on for the first time since it was built in 1884. To enhance the celebration there will be cider, donuts and raffles. Raffle tickets may be purchased at the library, the town office and Gordie Howe's Store. Ongoing is a 50/50 raffle that will be drawn on Nov. 5.

There will be a Public Harvest Dinner at Rumford Grange in Rumford Center on Sunday, Oct. 12, from noon to 1:30 p.m. It will cost adults $7 and children $3. And speaking of children, the Rumford Grange is having "trick or treat" on Friday, Oct. 31, from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

On Monday, Oct. 13, the Hanover Town Office will be closed in observance of Columbus Day.

The public hearing about the school consolidation referendum will be Wednesday, Oct. 15, at the Hanover Town Office starting at 5 p.m. Those interested in school issues should attend to hear about the options available to voters when they vote on Nov. 4.

The Hanover Comprehensive Plan Committee will meet on Wednesday, Oct. 15, at the Hanover Town Office at 6 p.m. It will be the first meeting since August, because the September meeting was cancelled.

The annual meeting for Gardner Roberts Memorial Library will be Oct. 21 at 7 p.m. At this meeting the officers and trustees will be elected for the coming year. All library members should attend that meeting.

The annual Town Meeting for Hanover will be Tuesday, Oct. 28, at 6 p.m. at the Hanover Town House at 12 Howard Pond Road. Town officers will be elected including two select persons, one for three years and one for a two-year term to fill a vacancy. Budget articles will be discussed and voted on. Before the Town Meeting there will be a Select Board meeting starting at 5 p.m., also at the Town House.

Last Sunday, Oct. 5, a bridal shower for Sara Clark took place at the Rumford Center Grange Hall. About 24 people attended the afternoon event and Sara got many fine gifts. Friends and family put on the event. Sara and Brian Worcester plan to be wed on Oct. 25, in Rumford.

An estate sale took place at the Everett home on Howard Pond Road last weekend.

A bull moose who decided it was his road brought travelers along Baby Brook Lane to a stop one day last week. Soon he made a retreat over the stonewall into the woods. Another day last week bear hunters with dogs were high up on Mount Dimmock. You could hear them.

Newry

by Sylvia Harrington

Any registered voter in the Town of Newry can request an absentee ballot by calling, e-mailing or coming in to the Town Office. Any resident wishing to register to vote can do so at any time before or on Election Day. Proper identification is needed for new registrations. If you are a registered voter and feel you might not be able to make it to the Town Office on Election Day, please call for an absentee ballot. The Town Office is open Monday-Thursday 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tel: 824-3123 Fax: 207-824-3688. E-mail is AClark@newrymaine.com or LPowers@newrymaine.com.

The Bear River TP hours are Monday through Saturday, 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Sundays 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Now that fall has arrived weekly offerings will include hot soups and chowders and their daily Coney Island hot dogs. Coffee is made in several varieties along with lots of interesting snack foods.

On Saturday I drove up to Bea and Frank Lowell's home. Bea showed me pictures of her new great-grandson. Congratulations to David and his daughter, Heather, who gave birth to Brayden Lowell East-erline on Sept. 25. Brayden weighed in at 6 pounds and 15 ounces. Both Heather and husband Lance are very happy to have Brayden with them at home in Beaufort, N.C. Congratulations are being sent to Lillian as well.

On Saturday, I drove into the Farmer's Market in Bethel. The Puzzle Mountain Bakery was one of the few booths represented. There probably aren't too many more weekends left for the selling of local products.

There are still lots of pumpkins at Norm Davis' stand. He still has a variety of squashes. The Windy Valleys Snowmobile Club had their first meeting of the new season on Sunday, Oct. 5. Eight members were present. Discussions were held regarding trail work and the bridges needing to be built. On Feb. 21 the club will have their annual Oyster Stew and Spaghetti Supper at the Newry Grange Hall. Anyone interested in joining the club is more than welcomed to do so. Also, anyone able to do some trail work, please call Leon Dunn at 824-3335 or Ed Powers at 824-3589.

East Andover

The Andover Fire Department's annual Craft Fair will be held on Saturday, Dec. 6, at the Fire Station. Please call Elaine Morton at 392-1140 to reserve a table. The tables go fast so you should call ASAP.

Absentee ballots for the Nov. 4 election are available at the Town Office. Besides the Presidential, Senator, Representative and other governmental positions, we will also be voting for a new selectmen to fill Donna Libby's position, and a recall of Selectman Susan Merrow. It is really important that you get out and vote. If you can't get to the polls, call Elaine at the Town Office to make other arrangements. Someone can get you an absentee ballot or give you a ride, so please make an effort to have your vote count.

If you want to take out papers to run for selectman, call Elaine at the Town Office, the number is 392-3302. Poor Elaine is going to be really busy answering phone calls.

John and Agnes Foster want to thank the Andover Rescue Team and MedCare for the excellent service they provided when John had a heart attack recently. They also want to thank their caring neighbors and friends for all the flowers, food and cards.

Other residents getting over surgery are Foster Tabb and Dianah Cutting. Cards would be nice.

I have been watching the television show "Survivor" on Thursday evenings. It's a good "reality" show and especially interesting this season, because Bill, a teacher from Gorham, Maine, is one of the contestants. It will be interesting to see how far he gets; I hope he wins the whole thing.

Thanks to the efforts of Linda Couture, and other volunteers, the Andover Food Pantry is up and running. Their hours are every Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the First Congregational Church. If you need help on other days, Linda's phone number is 364-7968. If you can give a donation, or can find some time to volunteer, it would be very welcome.

That's it for this week. See ya.

brothers, friends and family. But we know that Paul is at rest without pain and enjoying his visit in the Grand Lodge. God Bless you Paul.

Saturday afternoon, Terry Martin took me for a ride on his Rhino. We had a wonderful tour up to Willis Mills and back down Patch Mountain Road along with several side tours. I wished I had taken my camera, as there were some truly wonderful views with the foliage. It truly was a good time with a friend and neighbor. Thank you Terry. Will be looking forward to another tour!

I should have stayed with this yesterday, but I was side-tracked several times. And then with the Pat's and the Sox later, I was completely unavailable.

The Legion Auxiliary Unit 68 is planning a Halloween party for the kids. This will be on Friday, the 31st, and will be at the Town Hall in Lockes. There are activities planned for the little ones and older little ones. I'm sure this will be a good time for the kids and maybe for the planners too.

One of the most important parts of the Legion functions is to get people out to vote. So I'm starting now to remind everyone to get out and vote. Voting is one of our greatest rights as citizens. Remember that if you do not vote, you do not have a leg to stand on and complain. It also is a sign of not caring of your rights as a citizen in these United States. And remember of all the veterans who have stood up and those who gave all for your rights. So let's all get to your place of voting and do our duty as citizens by voting.

From the frosty side of a beautiful autumn morning, be well my friends.

West Paris

Fryeburg Fair is over for another year. The weather did not cooperate, but all went off as planned. After being away all summer and working for seven days at Oxford County Fair I decided to stay at home for a few days. This must be the rainiest year ever.

Beryl Bonney has received word that her sister, Marilyn Ryerson, passed away on Monday, Sept. 29, in Florida where she had lived for many years. She attended schools in West Paris and graduated from West Paris High School. She had visited here with family and friends each summer.

On Sunday, Oct. 12, the Rev. Richard Beal's sermon topic is "It's The Economy, My Friend"

The Food Pantry in Oxford County needs food for the hungry. We are asked to bring donations to Church to help fill the food baskets. Jim Burke is organist. A coffee hour follows.

Those attending the Birthday Party in South Portland for great-grandson Joshua Hyssong's ninth birthday were Kelly and Cameron with Sophia, Western, and Nicolas Hartley of Auburn; Grandmother Jude Lamb of Lamoine; Great-grandmother Joyce Lamb; parents Nina and Rob and sister, Emily; and Mike McLaughlin and Pat of Windham. The theme was Harry Potter and all made glasses like his to wear during the games. The birthday cake was made by Joshua's mother and was served with ice cream.

Great-grandmother Florence McLaughlin was unable to attend for she had just returned home from Stephens Memorial Hospital. She is feeling much better.

Ron Benson is visiting his mother, Florence McLaughlin.

Muffin is glad to have me at home most of the time now, at least every night. She now likes everyone and greets them when they come to visit.

Albany

by Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township. The days and nights are cooler, although the sunshine has been more than welcome. There is still color on the trees; however, that color is thinning rather quickly. All in all, autumn is here; Halloween is just a few short weeks away, and already the Christmas goodies are appearing in the stores. Thanksgiving will somehow be squished in there somewhere, I'm sure.

Our thoughts and prayers go out to the family of Diane Thurston, who passed away on Sept. 26. The family suggests memorials in her memory be made to the Bethel Ambulance Service, c/o Mary Buckman, 549 Walkers Mills Road, Bethel.

The Albany Improvement Association's yard sale is this Saturday, Oct. 11, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. If you need more information, give Buzzie a call at 824-2568. We haven't been able to get to many yard sales this summer (what with all the rain and needing to pay bills and the gas being so darn expensive, who wanted to just drive around looking for sales? Nope, we missed quite a few!) — we're going to try and hit this one. The monies raised will go toward a new roof for the hall.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless and Keep.

Since October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month, pink tulip bulbs will be available on Monday, Oct. 13, at the Town Green from 9 to 11 a.m. For each dollar donated, a tulip bulb will be planted in a new garden on the green and a donation will be made to the American Cancer Society. Bulbs may be dedicated to honor someone who survived breast cancer or in memory of someone who lost the battle with breast cancer. The pink tulip bulbs will be planted on Oct. 15 by volunteers and will bloom in the spring.

On Monday, Oct. 13, the Whitman Memorial Library will celebrate its 100th year. Time 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. There will be a Chinese auction, checkers tournament, old-fashioned games, and Richard Felt's band will play. Come help them celebrate.

On Tuesday, Oct. 14, the Grange will put on the Republican supper at the Grange Hall.

There will be no meeting of Judith Grover Tent 17 DUVCW this month, as usual, because on Oct. 22, this tent will join Norway and Stoneham tents at Stoneham for a 6 p.m. supper and inspection. Next meeting here will be in November; at that time, please bring in your items for Tugus gift shop and gifts for veterans. The November meeting will also be a silent auction.

The day of the library celebration, Oct. 13, the telephone Gil Whitman made will be unveiled on the common at 10 a.m.

Twenty-five senior citizens from the Woodstock-Greenwood group traveled to Gorham, N.H., to the Town & Country Inn for dinner on Thursday, Oct. 2. A delicious meal was enjoyed.

Sympathy is extended to Dotty Heath and family in the loss of her brother, and to Irene Mills and family in the loss of her sister.

Historical Society
The Society museum has excellent exhibits of glass and china, from Mt. Washington Peachblow to a set of Chelseaware, the type used in Lincoln's Illinois home. There are a couple sets of dinner plates plus amberina, custard and cranberry glass, and a Bristol vase. Ruby and cobalt glass are included too. There are also uniforms, dresses and quilts from years ago. They reflect the character of Woodstock's past. Textiles are important for any society. Photos of people and buildings in the town are also abundant. Local people enjoy looking at these. They can relate to them. There are books to browse through too. They include biography, literature, art, antiques, Maine and New England works, nature, crafts and cooking, also natural history among many other subjects. Small collectibles line shelves and tables while large antiques fill nearly every interior space. Visit at a meeting on the second Saturday of each month at 6 p.m., starting with a potluck supper.

Waterford

by Rocky Graham

The nights are definitely getting colder. It was only 20 when I woke up this a.m. Even the roosters weren't sure they wanted to get up and begin their day. But they did and crowing they are.

The garden is almost all put to bed; only a few winter squash remain and whatever carrots David did not pull.

From this window, I can see a large pumpkin that hasn't turned orange yet, some morning glories — blue and purple — and some tomatoes that insist on hanging on. In the other garden, the corn is long gone by and only the swiss chard remains. It is time to build the new greenhouse so we can extend the season in earnest.

This week will be almost the end of yard sales as the days get cooler and people do not want to sit out in it. We may have one this next weekend while our new front deck is put on. We have many things we can let go of and begin the winter on a slimmer note.

For those of you who have been asking David, no my voice is not back. I can whisper, but that is all that I have so far. I think maybe I am just running away from all the stress that has been dogging us this fall. Who knows, maybe I'll not speak again. It is interesting to just watch the activity around me, anyway.

On Saturday, the 11th, at the Albany Town House, on Hunt's Corner Road, there is a yard sale. To donate, call Buzzie at 824-2568. Proceeds will go toward fixing the roof of the Town House.

Also on Saturday, the North American Wife Carrying Competition takes place at the Sunday River Ski Resort. It is part of the Fall Poling Weekend. Also there will be the Blue Mountain Arts and Crafts Fair.

"How Anxiety and Stress Can Affect Your Life" was presented last week as the first of a series of workshops by the To Your Health Committee of WMSC. Wayne DuPlessis, presenter, discussed and explained stress as a by-product of any change and said this could be good or bad stress. In evaluations, participants commented on the usefulness of the many ways Wayne mentioned to de-stress and why it is so important.

Follow-up workshops will concentrate on further ways to de-stress. Betsey Foster, MPH, T'ai Chi and Qigong instructor, will present "Breath of Life — Breathing and Moving Meditation for Stress Reduction" on Saturday, Nov. 8, from 9:30 to 11 a.m. The workshop will be held at the West Parish Congregational Church hall.

In January, Jan Silas, PT, from Stephens Memorial Hospital, will have a workshop on healthy exercise at a date to be announced.

All area restaurants were recently contacted and invited to participate in a "Healthy Eating on a Budget" program to be held at their respective restaurants in early spring. Several restaurants have already agreed to participate. Watch for more information.

From Oxford County Democrats

The Oxford County Democrats will join with Maine Women for Obama to sponsor a Rally for Change in Bethel on Tuesday, Oct. 14 at 4 p.m.

Cathy Newell, Oxford County Leader of Maine Women for Obama, and a planning committee of local women are proud to invite Obama supporters and those considering voting for Obama for president to join in what may be the first Democratic political rally in Bethel since 1932 when Pearl Ashby Tibbetts, Alton Carroll and a friend, the only active Democrats in town, took to the streets with a push lawn-mower and signs — countering the threat that if the Democrat was elected President "grass would grow in the streets!"

The 2008 campaign will see Obama supporters gather on the common at the Gazebo for a rally, a talk by Mary Herman, Maine's former first lady and chair of Maine Women for Obama, as well as a contest for the best handmade political sign on the Women Support Obama theme. The event is open to everyone from tots to teens, twenty-somethings, and right on up the age brackets. Men are welcome too! Be creative. Decorated strollers and bikes would add to the fun.

Following the program, there will be a march to L'Auberge for refreshments and a chance to help in a Women-calling-

UNITED WAY BREAKFAST AT BETHEL INN—The United Way held its kickoff breakfast recently at the Bethel Inn. The United Way is celebrating its 20th anniversary this fall. Pictured are Helen Adams, Sarah Heck, and Heidi Charlton. Heck received the Dick Adams volunteer of the year award. Helen is Dick's wife, and she presented the award. Heck is a lawyer from Dow's Law office, and has coordinated the United Way Day of Caring for the last several years.

Women phone bank. Attendees willing to make calls are asked to bring cell phones. There will be an opportunity to make a donation to the Oxford County Democrats at L'Auberge. The local planning committee includes Nancy Willard, Lynn Arizzi, Rosabelle Tift, Sharon and Doron Haendel, and Cathy Newell. In the case of rain, the rally will be held indoors at L'Auberge.

Donkey Tuesday

The Oxford County Democrats will hold their annual Donkey Tuesday event on Tuesday, Oct. 21, at the Locke Mills Legion.

Donkey Tuesday is a free lasagna supper with donations at the door for Keep Oxford Warm and/or for the District Exchange Food Pantry.

The Oxford County Democrats will be holding a silent auction and will pass the hat for donations to the Democratic Committee. The hall will open at 4:45 p.m. with serving to start at 5:30.

Allison Rosenblatt and Jan Kubiak of Albany are chairing the event, with assistance from Doron Haendel of L'Auberge and Dave and Heather Nivus of The Good Food Store. Items for the silent auction are welcome and should be brought to the hall by 5 p.m. The menu includes lasagna, salad, beverage and apple crisp. Democrats and those interested in electing Democratic candidates are welcome to attend. RSVPs are appreciated. You may call 875-2116, or e-mail cathynewell@megalink.net.

Local Democratic candidates will assist with the serving and will offer remarks. Candidates running in the Bethel area are Sen. Bruce Bryant, Rep. Tim Carter, Russ Newcomb, candidate for District 95, Rep. John Patrick, candidate for Commissioner in District 2, Charleen Chase, candidate for Commissioner in District 1; Paul Dumas, candidate for Judge of Probate; and Bruce Rood, candidate for Register of Probate. Candidates for legislative leadership and constitutional office have been invited and will likely attend.

The website for the Oxford County Democrats is www.oxforddems.org. Those interested in becoming involved in the 2008 campaign may contact the Rumford office, 364-7289, or stop in at the offices in Bethel, Norway or Fryeburg which are usually open after 4 p.m. on weeknights.

From SAD44 Bus Garage

It's National School Bus Safety Week, and from Oct. 20-24, SAD44 is joining legislators across Maine and school bus industry officials nationwide to highlight the importance of school bus safety awareness and education.

The theme for School Bus Safety Week 2008, "CROSS IN VIEW, IT'S THE RIGHT THING TO DO," emphasizes the importance and benefits of school bus driver training and encourages students across the country to obey school bus safety rules while waiting at the bus stop and getting on and off the school bus each day.

Celebrated the third week of October this year, School Bus Safety Week promotes awareness and education on the local and state level through poster and speech contests, school bus safety community toolkits and events. School districts through Maine will be hosting activities for parents, children and bus drivers to highlight the importance of school bus safety both on and off the school bus.

While school bus transportation is the safest form of ground transportation available and eight times safer than traveling to school in a family vehicle, occasional accidents still happen.

Fortunately, SAD44 Transportation Department conducts extensive training for the staff and students to significantly reduce the chance of accidents.

"Loading and unloading children are the most dangerous aspects of school bus transportation. Too often motorists fail to heed the warning lights and do not stop for the stopped school bus. By celebrating School Bus Safety

THIS TEACHER HONORED

Telstar High School foreign languages teacher Merrielee Ojeda was surprised Tuesday at a school assembly when she received the 2008 Teacher of the Year Award from Wal-Mart in Oxford. Nominated by community members, Ojeda received a plaque from store manager Paul Conklin as students applauded. A check for $1,000, to be used for educational purposes, was presented to the school in honor of Ojeda. Inset, Ojeda with Conklin and Roberta Mersheimer of Wal-Mart Community Involvement. Ojeda personally received a $100 gift card.

Week throughout our school district, we have the opportunity to call attention to and to promote a key area of concern with regard to the safety of our children in an effort to prevent future injuries or fatalities.

The American School Bus Council offers the following tips for school bus riders:

- Be alert to traffic. Check both ways for cars before stepping off the bus.
- Make eye contact with the bus driver, and wait for the bus driver's signal before crossing the street.
- Walk in front of the bus; never walk behind the bus to cross the street.
- While waiting for the bus, stay in a safe place away from the street.
- Before leaving the sidewalk, look for the flashing lights.
- Never go under the bus to retrieve something you've dropped.
- Additionally, school bus drivers in each jurisdiction are trained to see the students from different viewing angles and to count the number of students at each stop.
- Also, motorists please watch for the yellow flashing lights on the school bus as that is an indication that the bus will be stopping within 100' to either pick up or discharge students.

About School Bus Safety Week
School Bus Safety Week was established in 1966 by the National Association of Pupil Transportation, National Association of State Directors of Pupil Transportation Services, National School Transportation Association and supported by NHTSA to educate students, parents and the motoring public about the safety of our nation's children who are transported daily on yellow school buses. This week also recognizes the hard work and dedication of school professionals, especially the school bus drivers who ensure a safe journey for our children each and every day. Oct. 24 is School Bus Driver Appreciation Day.

During this week each student interested is asked to do a School Bus Safety Poster. All posters are then taken to Sugarloaf to be judged during the annual School Bus Driver's Safety Conference. There are four divisions with three winners in each division. The first-place winner of each division is sent to the National School Bus Safety Poster Contest.

A reception with the Governor is held at the Blaine House for all winners and their families. Each winner receives a cash prize and a trophy. It is always a very exciting and fun time for all involved.

Please join the superintendent and the administration of SAD44 in supporting School Bus Safety Week and the activities for the week. Let us all especially take a few minutes to thank our school bus drivers for their professional dedication to the safe transportation of our children to and from school and school related activities.

From Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Ben B. Conant, curator of the Paris Cape Historical Society, will be the featured speaker at the next lecture in the Bethel Historical Society's 2008 Series sponsored in part by a grant from the Maine Humanities Council on Thursday, Oct. 9, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Titled "Marketing Maine Apples," the presentation will focus on several apple growers primarily operating in western Maine under names that included the Oxford Bears Fruit Growers Association and the Indian Head Fruit Growers based in Hebron/Minot/Turner, Andoxco, Conant Brothers, South Paris, and the Oxford Fruit Products Company, Buckfield.

Conant will trace this apple growing and marketing tradition back to the founding of the Maine Pomological Association in 1873 and discuss the relationship with the English market for this fruit up to the 1930s when economic changes severely curtailed these companies' opportunities for success. The lecture is free and open to all those interested in attending.

The Bethel Historical Society provided opportunities for members of Maine Preservation following their annual meeting on Thursday evening to see several historic properties on Friday, Oct. 3. Among those offered for tours were the former Gehring House at the end of Broad Street, the society's O'Neil Robinson House and Dr. Moses Mason House, the John Hastings house and barn (Stan Howe's), the former Herrick House (now Ed and Mary Jo Kennett's), Odeon Hall in the Cole Block, the Hall House (now George and Danna Nickerson's), the William Rogers Chapman house (now owned by David and Nancy Murphy), the Middle Intervale Meetinghouse, and the East Bethel Church (also known as the Lower Meetinghouse).

In addition, Society Director Stanley R. Howe offered a tour of Woodland Cemetery as well. Much gratitude is extended to all those who allowed tours of their property.

With over 1,440 members, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For over 40 years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, family reunions, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications.

From SeniorsPlus

With the rising cost of home heating fuel and food, winter is going to be particularly difficult for many Maine older adults this year. In an effort to prepare older adults ahead of time, SeniorsPlus is inviting seniors across Androscoggin, Franklin and Oxford counties to attend one of their Winter Survival Fairs.

The events will be held in Oxford, Rumford, Fryeburg, Rangeley, Farmington, Livermore Falls and Lewiston throughout the months of October and November. SeniorsPlus, Community Concepts, Western Maine Community Action, the Public Advocates Office, Department of Health and Human Services, Central Maine Medical Center, Healthy Maine Community Coalition and the Franklin County Emergency Management Agency will be on hand to assist older adults in finding cost savings and hidden money available to them to help pay for food and fuel this winter.

"The main goal of this fair is to give attendees a benefits checkup; make sure they are getting all the benefits they are entitled to like heating assistance, food stamps and MaineCare. We'll also have staff on hand to help complete Tax and Rent Rebate Forms for the Maine Circuit Breaker program, and who will also check Medicare benefits to make sure attendees aren't paying too much out of pocket for prescription drugs," remarked Connie Jones, director of Community Services at SeniorsPlus.

In addition to the benefits checkup, attendees will learn how to winterize their home, and be trained on what to do in the event of an emergency and/or evacuation.

Events will be held: Oct. 9, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Oxford Town Hall; Oct. 17, 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Rangeley Church of Good Shepherd; Oct. 22, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at SeniorsPlus Lewiston Office; Oct. 23, 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Fryeburg American Legion Hall; Nov. 6, 1 to 4 p.m. at Rumford American Legion Hall; Nov. 10, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Franklin Memorial Hospital; and Nov. 14, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Murray Hall, Livermore Falls.

All events are free and open to the public. Light refreshments will be served. Older adults and their family members are strongly urged to attend. To RSVP call SeniorsPlus at (800) 427-1241.

SeniorsPlus is a private nonprofit, 501(c)(3) corporation whose mission is to enrich the lives of older adults. It serves as the local Agency on Aging for Androscoggin, Franklin, and Oxford counties, and provides a network of support, information, services and resources for older adults and adults with disabilities and their families. For more information, visit www.seniorsplus.org (800) 427-1241.

From Sunday River Ski Resort

Sunday River will host the 9th annual North American Wife Carrying Championships on Saturday, Oct. 11 as part of the resort's annual Fall Festival weekend.

The Wife Carrying competition features couples navigating a 278-yard obstacle course while the man is literally "carrying" the woman. Women are allowed to carry men as well, which occurred for the first time in 2005. The teams do not have to comprise of married couples, but they must comprise of a man and a woman and both must be at least 21 years old to enter. The method of carry is the competitors' choice, though most use the "Estonian" carry, where the "wife" holds her husband around the waist and tightens her legs around his neck, thereby freeing the husband's hands.

The 2007 event drew 40 teams competing for cash and prizes, with first place including the wife's weight in beer, five times her weight in cash, and qualification to compete in the World Championships in Finland.

The legend behind the contest is based in Finnish history. In the 19th century, infamous Ronkainen the Robber had high qualifications for men he accepted into his band. They had to complete a difficult course with a heavy sack on their backs. It was also not uncommon for men to steal women from neigh-

Meet at Monmouth; Oct. 2—TMS ran a very soggy two-mile course at Monmouth. For the boys, John Drew ran with a to-tal of 50 runners and came in 33rd overall. A runner from Win-throp challenged John near the end of the race but John showed him his kick and easily beat him. For the girls, our three strong sixth grade girls all finished in the top 30 in a race with a total of 80 runners. Racheal Goldberg finished 30th, Rose Goldberg 27th, and Gabrielle Stone 13th. Each girl ran a great race with people around them to challenge them. "Great job from all of my run-ners." —coach Dave LeClere

Youth Football

5th & 6th Grade Greenwood Spartans

Rumford 28, Greenwood 0; Oct. 5— The Spartans went to Rumford knowing what they were up against. The Rumford 49ers were undefeated, but the Spartans were determined to give them a good game. Chris Chappie, Greg Wheeler, Maver-ick Griffin, Calvin Glover, and the rest of the Spartans defense did an excellent job stopping the 49ers running game, but the 49ers passing game proved to be the best seen this year. The Spartans offense found it difficult to break through the 49ers defense, but with less than one minute to go in the game, Ryan Vail broke through the line and ran for what was thought to be a touchdown. The touchdown celebration was cut short when the play was called back for a holding penalty. The Spartans hope to end the season with a victory at home this coming Sun-day, Oct. 12, at Telstar. Kickoff is at 2 p.m.. This is the Spar-tans final game of the year, so we hope to see a large turnout at the game to cheer the team on. (J. Eliot - Spartans football)

3rd & 4th Grade Greenwood Spartans

Rumford 18, Greenwood 6; Oct. 5— This was truly a defen-sive game from the start. The entire Spartans defense kept them in the game the whole time, but the Spartans offense found all the holes and ends blocked and could not get their running game going consistently. The Rumford Oilers scored first, but the Spartans came right back when Tanner Wheeler intercepted a pass and ran it back for a touchdown to tie the game. The Oilers looked like they would take the lead back af-ter they gained possession of the ball on the Spartans 1 yard line, but the Spartans defense put up an amazing stand and held the Oilers off. The Oilers did finally get back into the end zone, but it was still anyone's game. "This team is undefeated and we just saw why. They should end up as the top ranked team in the playoffs". (L. Bean - Coach) The Spartans do have a good chance of making the playoffs for the first time in club history. With a victory this Sunday, at Telstar, the Spartans should lock up the chance to play in post season. Win or lose, this Sunday will be the Spartans last home game of the year. Kickoff is at 12:30 p.m. Come and watch your Spartans play. (J. Eliot - Spartans Football)

-boring villages. The first modern-day event was held in 1991 and foreign contestants were admitted in 1995.

"Sunday River's Fall Festival marks the unofficial kick-off to the winter season at the resort," said Dana Bullen, general manager. "This year we are particularly excited to welcome everyone back to show them the progress we've made on the installation of our new Chondola ski lift." The Chondola is a $7.2 million hybrid ski lift that will run chairs and gondola cabins on the same cable and is the marquee element of the $14 million being invested in the resort this year. The lift is expected to open in late December of this year.

Additional events scheduled for Fall Festival are the 25th Annual Blue Mountain Arts and Craft Fair, a free outdoor concert with Max Creek, a wine tasting, scenic chairlift rides, children's activities, wagon rides and more. New this year will be the Mountain Epic running race on Oct. 12. Organized with Tri-Maine Productions, the Mountain Epic will be a foot race up and down the slopes of Sunday River. A full listing of events is at www.sundayriver.com.

From

Oxford County 4-H Program

On Dec. 5 the Oxford County 4-H Leaders' Association is sponsoring a "Take-A-Chance" Auction to benefit Oxford County Youth Development programs. This auction will be held at the Oxford Hills Middle School Cafeteria on Pine Street in South Paris and doors will open at 5 p.m. with the drawing starting at 7. Refreshments will be available.

The Leaders' Association looks forward to an evening of fun with over 200 donations of new gifts, gift certificates and homemade crafts. The event will also have a table for large special $1 raffle chances.

4-H programs focus on the importance of learning responsibility, respect, life skills, and leadership through a variety of hands-on projects and is open to all youth 5 through 18.

All proceeds from the auction will be used to support programs for 4-H youth in Oxford County.

From

Dept. of Inland Fisheries & Wildlife

The Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife would like to inform people of some changes in the law concerning the issuance of antlerless deer permits.

During its last session, the Maine Legislature passed Public Law Chapter 492 that went into effect as an emergency law on March 12, 2008.

The new law does change the way the Superpack Licenses will deal with antlerless deer permits. Superpack license holders still will be eligible for entry into the Superpack antlerless lottery and if chosen, which most holders will be, can then take one more antlerless deer during the other deer seasons.

This law reaffirms the original intent of establishing the expanded archery season, which was to allow hunters in areas that had no firearm discharge ordinances to take antlerless deer to help control deer populations in those areas.

This season was not established to allow people to hunt for bucks and not take antlerless deer in the process.

The law reaffirmed that the Superpack license antlerless deer permits can only be issued in Districts that have over 5,000 permits issued, and at no time can the number of antlerless permits given to Superpack holders in those Districts be over 2.5 percent of the total permits in that District. This new law also increases the number of antlerless deer permits made available to landowners from 20 percent to 25 percent.

The Superpack license was enacted as part of the budget in 2005. When the Legislature revisited the license in 2006, and added the expanded archery permits, the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife had to make some interpretations, as the law simply stated "3 deer during the special season (Expanded Archery) established in accordance with law."

Our interpretation, lacking clear direction at the time, was to issue one buck permit and two antlerless deer permits, as this is what was available to other license holders. After hearing from the hunting public, as well as staff, that perhaps the interpretation needed to be looked at, the Department asked the Legislature what the intent was and Public Law Chapter 492 was enacted clarifying that the three permits issued for expanded archery were to be antlerless deer permits. What has not changed is the fact that all other licensed deer hunters still will be limited to taking one deer.

If those hunters do not receive an antlerless deer permit either in the landowner drawing or the regular antlerless deer permit drawing they will have to take a buck. But they can only take one deer. A Superpack License holder, however, if given an antlerless deer permit from the Superpack drawing, still will be able to take five deer, and without the Superpack antlerless deer permit still be able to take four deer.

It should be noted that due to the severe winter this past year and amount of deer mortality that resulted from last winter the Department reduced the number of antlerless deer permits available statewide from 66,275 permits in 2007 to 51,125 permits for this year's season.

Finally, Superpack license holders still will be allowed to take a buck in the expanded season, but they will have to purchase a buck tag to do so. That is consistent with the requirement that states that all regular archery license holders, that is folks who do not buy a Superpack license but want to participate in the expanded archery season, must buy a permit to take a buck for $32 and can only take one buck, and may purchase an unlimited number of antlerless deer permits for $12 each and take as many antlerless deer as they have permits.

American Life in Poetry

Selection and comments by Ted Kooser, U.S. Poet Laureate 2004-2006

Here's a fine seasonal poem by Todd Davis, who lives and teaches in Pennsylvania. It's about the drowsiness that arrives with the early days of autumn. Can a bear imagine the future? Surely not as a human would, but perhaps it can sense that the world seems to be slowing toward slumber. Who knows?

Sleep

On the ridge above Skelp Road bears binge on blackberries and apples, even grapes, knocking down the Petersens' arbor to satisfy the sweet hunger that consumes them. Just like us they know the day must come when the heart slows, when to take one more step would mean the end of things as they should be. Sleep is a drug; dreams its succor. How better to drift toward another world but with leaves falling, their warmth draping us, our stomachs full and fat with summer and talk to the tireless people that help rescue, rehabilitate and re-home wonderful companions. Doggie Parade, Costume Contest, Doggie Pageant, etc. "Weiner" dogs and drink available. Rain or shine. No admissions fee but donations welcome. FMI: call 539-4800 or visit www.adoptadogathon.com.

Swans celebrate 50th

Bev and Bill Swan of Andover celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Sept. 27.

TERRI-LYNN PERRY
BORN OCT. 15, 1968 ~ DIED APRIL 19, 1995
The time is passing and I wish it had stayed still, for I would still have you with me but it was not God's will.
For my life changed that day when you were taken away.
Never to be the same again, but how life can change.
In one precious moment a child can arrive, making someone's life special and worthwhile.
Only to be taken away in a twinkling of an eye, for that moment was as precious, but we still have to go on.
Life moves forward even though you are not here, but it is not the same for me because my child is not here.
The years may pass and the years may go, but I want all to remember.
You are missed and will be forever loved and not forgotten in my heart so tender.
I want everyone to remember your very special day.
That day that God had a precious gift for me.
HAPPY BIRTHDAY!
Love, Mom xoxo
